CLOSER LOOK: She has the speed to flee the rail but may have to be hard used to get away from the fence; the concern is she is facing a couple that have had her number in the past; in good hands, like the series of drills since the last race and she does have the three races to draw from now; don't sell too short.

Clever rebound in the return as miss proved she can handle this surface; place horse in the Del Mar finale won an N2X at Zia, then repeated there in a $42K NC allowance on 10/21 with a 82 Beyer; the 8/18 winner repeated in a $50K stakes at Pomona, was 4th and third after that effort; the blowout last Sunday suggests she is still on her toes and there seems to be plenty of speed in here to help promote the kick; too sharp to ignore.

Miss has been on a stakes diet most of the year; legit trouble two back on a surface she may not have adored and you can also draw a line through the two turf efforts; O'Neill has put Krigger on some live stock and this gal can give you a .21 and change quarter when in the mood; expect much better effort here.

A career Beyer in last as the blinks were re-added; she has an extra sixteenth to negotiate this time and not convinced she will get such and easy lead; she did get to lugging two back and that has to be addressed; miss fits on the Beyer scale if she can repeat the last effort and she has a right to have a useful career as kin to Grade 3 placed nearly $300K earner Romin Robin.

The grass experiments appear over for now; don't be too harsh about last as the hillside can be tricky and note she bobbled in the Torrey Pines; the good news is that this is her venue and if you key off her Evening Jewels win, when she got the same kind of set up she may here, then she has to be left in the mix.

Her speed may have been dulled in last; legit trouble two back and the place horse that day cashed next out in a $12.5K seller, then ran out of the money; respect barn and miss seems to have taken to the surface but this is a far cry from beating up $10K Emerald sellers.

Would love to see her develop that killer instinct; she was life and death taking the lone route, but was far from disgraced in her stakes performances; if you figure she just needed last you can build a solid case and that's a pretty snappy move on the 21st; the winner of the 2012 opener took a $98K stakes here on 10/7 and is taking a shot at the Filly and Mare Turf on Saturday; respect.

Did that February finale zap her?; third and 5th in her two comeback efforts; she was forced to steady in last but 2 of her 3 wins have been local; would be careful before taking too short a number.

Broke a bit poorly, rushed up, had nothing left; she has the local win under her girth but now has to prove it going a furlong farther; Palma knows what to do with a good horse, the drills are fast and well spaced and Bejarano enticed; can't be dismissed.

Mare has been one hot claim box item this year; she holds the win edge on the field and love the fact she has valid speed, but can be placed anywhere and still perform; the place horse in last took a $16K claimer next out with a 82 Beyer; and note the show horse was clear for fun; drawn right, good style, surprise package. -Brian Mulligan

2 for 2, each impressive in its own right, too; debut win came after a sluggish start at DMR but his SW on this dirt Oct. 6 was a beaut as he dueled, took over and drew off to get a pretty sweet Beyer (92); again, that's not far off what it took to win this last year (Secret Circle got a 95); so, he comes here sharp, has the best Beyer in the field and it came on this track so there are quite a few things on the asset side of the ledger here.

Debut win at FPX (dirt) was pretty darn nice; that earned him a shot at the Tim Conway here Oct. 6; showed his speed again but that got him into a duel with Merit Man and he was no match for that foe in the lane; to his credit he kept to his task to be a clear 2nd; must make up quite a bit of ground on 'Man but at least you know he's got speed and you know he handles this place, and with experienced 2yos you can see drastic improvement race to race.

Baffert won the inaugural running of this last year with Secret Circle; 'Circle was lightly raced, too, though he'd at least run twice; colt broke a bit slowly in his Oct. 7 debut here but rushed up to fight for the lead, put away the other speed and drew off; horse he beat back into 2nd (Shakin It Up) came right back to win easily here Oct. 2, too; strong 1:12.80 work here Oct. 21 says he s doing well; Merit Man poses a significant hurdle but no doubt there's more than enough talent here for him to overcome, especially with any sort of improvement.

2 of his 3 starts were quite smart as he blasted maidens by 5 1/2 at GG Aug. 25 (his debut) and romped by 13 1/4 vs. $25K claimers here Oct. 15; sandwiched in between was a so-so 4th for $16K; so, which guy do we get today?; well, at least that 13 1/4-length romp came in his only dirt try, and only try on this track, so the surface suit; the Beyer wasn t any great shakes (70) and he'll have to find a bunch of lengths to beat these, but apparently when things break his way he s capable of big things.

Filly takes on the boys; she's had success doing so before, however, as she won her debut over males including Bern Identity, who came back to whip maidens by 13 3/4 lengths, then win the G2 Sanford and run 3rd in the G2 Hopeful; was in no way disgraced by So Many Ways when 2nd to that gal in the G1 Spinaway, and that filly would have been scary in the BC Juvenile Fillies, too; the Beyers weren't anything to write home about so she'll need to improve there, but that's hardly out of reach and she's shown some versatility to give her rider options, too. -Michael Hammersly

Group 1 winner is the class of the field as an earner of $2.3 million; but for all of his credentials, he will be trying something new – conventional dirt; he also will be adding blinkers and will be first Lasix; aside from his class, one of his greatest appeals is his familiarity with the mile and three-quarter trip; he is proven at the distance and that is something few in the this field can claim; follows a somewhat similar pattern up to this race as he did when he won last year's Group 3 British Champions Long Distance Cup, scoring in his third start since June; choice.

He shakes a couple of notable rivals here in Game on Dude and Richard's Kid, both of which are entered in the $5 million Classic; barn changes things up and removes blinkers and note that is a high percentage equipment change for Harty; is one of just three in the field who can claim to be a winner over the main track at SA, the others being Worth Repeating and Juniper Pass; gets good pedigree support for the added distance demands, and is one of several in this field who can share.

He will be making his first main track start, having been a regular on turf for all 19 of his career races; was a credible forth last out in the Grade 2 John Henry, and note the winner and runner-up from that race are both set to run Saturday in the $3 million Turf; as for this one, he has class appeal as a runner who is Grade 1-placed over a mile and a half; he also might be sitting on a peak race in his third start since last November; but again, the question will be how he handles dirt.

He might have a tactical advantage in this spot; he appears to have more natural speed than most of these, and on the move from a mile to a mile and three-quarters looking for him to find himself on or close to the lead; he stalked a solid pace in his last start, and for the effort earned what ranks as this field's co-highest last-race Beyer Figure; he shares the distinction with Eldafer; is at home over the local strip, too, with two seconds and a third at SA; win candidate.

He gives up recency to most of these as he has not seen action since June; do like that he has won two of his last three starts, and one of them came in a Group 2; he also is a proven marathoner and he has been known to fire a big race off the bench; totes less weight than usual in this spot and has been settled in here for a while with a Southern California work tab dating back to at least Sept. 25.

He's consistent and he brings some interesting company lines to the table; last September, he defeated Eldaafer, a past winner of the BC Marathon; and two races back, he was second to that rival, who he meets again this afternoon; might be closer to the pace than a number of these on the stretchout from a mile and an eighth; he also worked a near bullet half-mile in his final prep Oct. 25; has tactical appeal for his natural speed appears to be a leading contender.

He returned to turf last out and recaptured his best form; he was beaten less than a length for everything in an optional claiming allowance going a mile and a quarter at SA; do like that he has run well over the local main track in the past; he also might get a decent stalking trip behind a few of these, which makes him appealing; in addition, he might move forward in his second start since Dmr; a concern, however, is that he must again face two who finished in front of him in recent times, Worth Repeating and Balladry.

She gives up recency to all of these as she has not seen action since May; has been a highly consistent sort as a rule and is a regular over distances of a mile and a quarter or greater; she also is a regular against male rivals, running third against such foes last out in a Group 1; gets in lighter than some of these as a female, and has had a chance to work over the local main track, turning a near bullet Oct. 28.

He is a past winner of the BC Marathon, taking the race in 2010; enters this year's renewal off a strong showing in the Grade 2 Hawthorne Gold Cup, a race in which he pressed Alternation and ended up third; it was a nice effort from runner who was stepping up in class and who was 20-1; and note the winner of the race, Pool Play, goes back in the $5 million Classic; as for this one, he ended up earning what ranks as this field's co-highest last-race Beyer Figure; he shares the title with Jaycito; seems to have found new life racing on the front end, and looking for him to be prominent here, perhaps falling in behind Jaycito and Commander; win candidate.

He is on top of his game right now as he will be seeking his seventh consecutive win; has used his good speed to win most of his races during the streak that started in June, but has also proven to be effective from off the pace, making him a double threat; might get a nice tracking trip behind Jaycito, who is drawn to his inside; last few starts have come at Hst, but he has had a chance to work over the local strip leading up to the BC, and the drills have been strong; he also ran well in a SA route back in January; gets the continued support of Derby and Preakness-winning jockey Gutierrez; cannot ignore.

He might get an ideal stalking trip, sitting just behind Jaycito and Commander; gets back up on a mile track following a sharp route stakes score over the five-eighths of a mile oval at Fpx; note he is a winner over the local strip, one of just three in this field who can claim to be, the others being Balladry and Juniper Pass; as a consistent sort with speed-who is coming off a stakes win on dirt-he looks quite capable; win candidate.

She's back facing the boys in this spot and was a Group 3 winner over males last August; she's also a winner at this mile and three-quarter trip, something few of these can claim; has been toting a good deal more weight, and for this race will carry 15 pounds less than her most recent out; this start will also be her first with Lasix; getting another shot here at Fame and Glory, who she faced last April.

He has some natural speed and that should serve him well, perhaps helping him secure a stalking trip in this large field of horses; teams here with Dettori, a world class rider accustomed to the marathon trip; this one removes blinkers and note his last two wins on form came without the equipment; has worked well since his last start, and might be sitting on a peak race in his third race since July; adding to his appeal is the fact that he is one of just three in here who can claim to be a winner over the main track at SA. -Mary Rampellini

CLOSER LOOK: Ran away and hid when she dropped into a first-level allowance race Oct. 4 and it is hard to ignore the 108 Beyer Speed Figure she received; nonetheless, she couldn't hold off Executiveprivilege going seven furlongs in the Grade 1 Del Mar Debutante and she is going to be under the gun right from the start; her breeding also suggest she'll have trouble handling a middle distance facing top company; sire won six sprints but placed in his two route attempts; mom won five sprints; just a single route win between her five siblings; she is obviously talented but have a feeling she is going to come up a bit short.

Undefeated and her easy win going around two turns the first time in the Grade 1 Chandelier should have set her up perfectly for this; we know she can go this far and she doesn't need the lead so she should get a perfect trip from a stalking position; she was able to run down Beholder without any help up front in the Del Mar Debutante and have to assume one of the Pletcher fillies will be forcing the issue early; the pick.

A bit surprised to see her in this race instead of the Juvenile Filly Turf because she has performed well on turf and Polytrack but hasn't tried dirt; her trainer is pretty sharp though. so don't be surprised if she runs a big race; horse that beat her in the Grade 2 Natalma came back to easily win the Grade 3 Mazarine at Woodbine Oct. 6; she overcame trouble to win the Grade 1 Alcibiades and there is going to be plenty of speed to set up her good late kick; she appears to have the best chance of upsetting the favorites.

Broke her maiden in a $100,000 stakes race on the turf at Del Mar and the horse she beat was coming off a fourth-place finish in her debut; the third horse finished close to Executiveprivilege in a couple of races but finished last in Spring in the Air's Alcibiades; in other words, this looks like a perty tough spot for her; this will also be her first start on dirt and she will need to improve substantially in order to make any kind of impact; passing.

She displayed her raw talent with double-digit wins in her first two starts and she showed her class with a hard-fought win over My Happy Face in the four-horse Grade 1 Frizette which was basically a match race right from the start; she has had plenty of time to bounce back from her game win and if she can avoid dueling with Beholder she'll have a big shot at winning; dam won a couple of Grade 1 sprints but she should get plenty of stamina from her sire; contender..

Lone win came sprinting on turf and the 66 Beyer Speed Figure she earned isn't going to scare anyone; she couldn't keep up when she tried graded company in the With Anticiapation at Saratoga and the Alcibiades at Keeneland so this looks like a bit of a stretch for her; most of her sibs were better going long on dirt so maybe the surface switch will help move her up; passing.

She has really improved in her last three races and maybe the addition of Lasix had something to do with it; no Lasix for her today, though; the improvement could also have been due to her getting off dirt or that she was stretching out in distance; finished full of run but Spring in the Air outgained her in the Alcibiades; horse that beat her by a neck in the P G Johnson won the Grade 3 Ms Grillo in her next start; she won't mind the shape of the race but others look more attractive.

CLOSER LOOK: Toss the last two; she wants grass; on her best day, like in the 2011 finale, she can run with the best of her generation and she has rebounded from poor efforts in the past; very carefully and expertly managed and what else would you expect from Zenyatta's trainer?; if you figure she just needed her last race, then you can build a case for a longshot look and she does appear to have legit credentials; a bit unlucky to lose the Hirsch, look for rider to try to get her to settle, save some ground, then make the one run.

Hung wide in the only out of the money run this year, this gal may not have adored the yielding course in the Flower Bowl; the pace was just so slow in that last race that she inherited the lead and may not have even seen the eventual winner kicking; the fact that she has run well at a number of different venues gives her a right to like it here; she thrived on the firm course two back setting a course record and a repeat of that 103 Beyer would put her in the thick of it; wide in the only off performance this year at Keeneland, a huge effort would be no shock from this gal.

Lucy appears ambitiously placed as this is a far cry from beating up a $75K stakes field at Golden Gate; with that said, also know that upsets have been the order of the day in this race in the last two years as Shared Account paid $94 two years ago and Perfect Shirl chimed in at $57 last year; she has been good value in the gimmicks in the last pair and maybe that is where her strength will be once again; she is the only runner in this race without a Grade 1 or 2 victory; tough to love even if she runs her best race ever.

John Gosden knows the intricacies of this place as he successfully trained here back in the day and in 2008 won the BC Juvenile Turf with invading Donativum to account for one of his 4 BC victories; only one poor race for this talented miss this year and the winner just freaked that day in the huge field; this soph got a boost when the winner of last repeated in the Group 1 Prix Vermeille before splitting the cast in the Arc; this miss likes to be covered up and after the Nassau Stakes the rider said that she loved to be held and then make the one run; the horse that beat her in the Ascot race ran third beaten just under 5 lengths in a Group 1 next out; beat her to greet cashier.

Pretty nice prep for this race in last but she will need plenty of help up front and there really doesn't seem to be a ton of speed in here; the blinkers were removed in last and she put in her second best Beyer performance of her career; youngster basically got good for about 2 months last year and she is a hard one to figure; she'll be close up one day, come from double digit lengths back the next; she will need the race of her life to greet the cameraman today; her trainer took blame for the poor Mabee effort as told to the DRF, Shirreffs: we made a critical mistake to put the blinkers on, it made her way too rank and she couldn't finish. Live and learn; the last three words sum up this grand sport; will be rolling late if at all.

Proven fresh, she has trained like the proverbial Swiss clock for this race; a true horse for the course, toss the dirt race and find a nose somewhere and she is unbeaten this year; this will however be her toughest test to date; she can also be a handful to ride as her jockey said after the last win, Smith: she's one of those fillies with such a wicked turn of foot that you have to be careful. If you niggle on her a little bit, she goes from last to first right now; tabbed at 14-1 by William Hill, she was hung 6 wide in that last win and to do that again against some of the best in the world is not an easy task; things will need to break just right.

The last time the F and M Turf was held here Hency Cecil's trainee Midday was coming off a defeat at Longchamp in a Group 1 but sat 5th three and a half off the lead before getting up by a length with a 102 Beyer; the early 1,2,3 leaders finished 4th, last and 7th respectively; could get away on the tote off the last beat by some nice horses; proven at this distance, she was sent along in the Beverly D but that is not her winning style; she got a boost when the show horse in the Currah finale upset in the Flower Bowl and the winner of last repeated for her 4th career victory over a dozen in the Group 1 E. P. Taylor with a 100 Beyer; racing style demands that everything has to unfold perfectly.

Revenge one of the motives here and she ran too good to lose in this race last year; one concern about this gal is that she was handled pretty easily by the Gosden charge in the Goodwood finale; this miss got a 'win and you're in' victory in the Flower Bowl; she started the year on the dull side but got some confidence in the third in the Curragh finale; both of her races in the states have been impressive and could see her sitting a nice trip, maybe 5 or so off a moderate pace hoping the speed burners wilt up front; 5th and 8th finishers in last took non-Graded stakes next out; far too sharp not to take seriously.

Love the fact she can be placed anywhere and still fire; huge middle move last time to come from 13 back to get within a half of the leader but it was kind of a set up as she benefited when stablemate and acting rabbit Vivo Per Lei pushed a very hot pace before beating one home; miss has trained comfortably in Inglewood since her Rodeo effort for the very cagey Proctor; this gal likes the firm turf and her only poor try this year came on the good course on a pretty quick 3-week turn around; she was the co-third choice on the Hill site with Nahrain and her best asset is her consistency as not a lot of horses hit the exacta in 11 of 15; legit player with the A game.

Nahrain won the Prix de l'Opera last year and than got beat by a 27-1 shot in this race; this gal beat a proven Group 2 winner in last as Izzi Top gave multiple Group 1 winner and $6.5 million earner Snow Fairy all she could handle in a couple of stakes this year; miss may be better in softer going but the talent is surely there; along with the Gosden charge, this miss has been the most fancied on the Hill numbers; the pace was kind of phony in her last win as there was a clear leader who put on the brakes and another horse kind of got first run on this gal but she made the top with 200 meters to go and just kept extending; relatively fresh, on top of her game, the one to deny.

CLOSER LOOK: A super renewal; avg. winning Beyer is 106; Royal Delta won last year with a 104; this gal as a 105 and 103 on her resume, meaning she may have the necessary oomph; while she's capable of big things, just when it seems she's on the verge of breaking through and becoming really special, she fails to fire (Ky. Oaks, Alabama); when she's the best gal in the race, she's taken advantage and beat up on those lesser gals; trouble is, there's no way she can be considered the best gal coming into this; even so, could it be that big G2 Indiana Oaks win wasn't just a case of her being the best in there, but that she's growing up?; is she this year's Royal Delta?

Hard to believe you have 3 champions in here, 2 of them unbeaten (this gal and Awesome Feather); was so dominant as a 2yo it was a real disappointment she wasn't seen this year until August (sore shins); the good news is she's back and seemingly as good or even better than ever; return sprint win at SAR was a little clumsy, but there was nothing fluky about her G1 Cotillion win as she gamely beat Questing, who was coming off monster wins in the G1 CCA Oaks and G1 Alabama; versatile enough to adapt and that could be key here what with at least a couple gals who want to dictate tempo; Asmussen knows how to handle a top filly as he trained HOY Rachel Alexandra.

The queen of the northwest as she dominated her rivals at EMD and HST; don't doubt her heart - you don't win 10 of 16 (with 62nds) by accident; DRF's man-about-town regarding works (Mike Welsch) gave her rave reviews for her big work here recently; all that being said, she's never faced anyone close to the level of these gals, and her career-high Beyer (89) means she needs to show up here a bunch of lengths better than she even has been and that may be a tall order; at least those who love her winning habit will love her price as she won't be odds-on this time.

3yo filly title seemed in her grasp after romping wins in the G1 CCA Oaks and G1 Alabama; well, not so fast – she then ran into the gal who was supposed to be the division's best (My Miss Aurelia); set the pace in the G1 Cotillion against 'Aurelia, battled long and hard with that foe but just fell a head shy; could it be she went too slow too soon?; could be; after all, she ran her foes off their feet in her prior wins whereas Cotillion was run like a grass horse (slow early); that meant 'Aurelia was always close by and this gal couldn't outduel her late; may go back to using her speed more here, though Love and Pride and maybe Awesome Feather aren't going to just lie down and give her an easy lead, right?

Like My Miss Aurelia, she's an undefeated champion (champ 2yo filly of 2010); despite some ailments she's not only kept her record perfect but she seems to be getting even better; came back after 8 months and romped at BEL Sept. 20 while getting a 108 Beyer; gal who ran 2nd that day (All Due Respect) just ran 2nd in the G3 Turnback the Alarm at BEL last week; cost $2.3 million at auction for a reason and yes, it's the toughest test of her life, but she's passed every test so far so who's to say she can't make it 11 for 11, hmmm?

 Won this last year in smashing fashion, giving Mott 4 wins in this; is even bigger and badder this year; they kicked around the notion of trying the boys in the G1 BC Classic, so that ought to tell you something as to how they feel about her; heck, they tried the boys earlier this year in Dubai and while that didn't go so well, they're already on record saying that - and maybe a tilt at the BC Classic - are in the cards for 2013; well, we're getting ahead of ourselves: is no doubt a beast and looked good as ever winning the Beldame: 'A' game gets it done again, but this is about as strong a renewal as we've seen so she has no margin for error.

G1/G2 SW here during the winter/spring meet and she won a G1 at DMR so she's probably the leading light among the West Coast gals; trouble is, that may not mean as much this year as the prime power seems to have been stacked up out East; some proof of that was on display in the G1 Zenyatta here Sept. 29 as Love and Pride, who's a nice gal but probably no better than 5th or 6th choice here, beat her easily, and Midwesterner Joyful Victory, again a nice filly but no powerhouse, beat her, too; good news is you know she likes it here and the race shape may play well for her, and one of her foibles (pulling up too soon when making the lead) won't be a factor as there's likely no way she makes the lead too soon vs. these.

Many viewed that upset over Royal Delta as a fluke, that it was a function of race shape and weight spread; however, this gal validated that win by shipping here and beating SoCal's best pretty handily in the G1 Zenyatta; could be she's simply coming into her own; had always hinted at big-time ability, but just hadn't been able to get over the hump; well, she may well be doing that right now; that being said, speed is her forte but what's she going to do when speed of the highest quality, namely Questing and 'Feather, are looking her straight in the eye on the pace here, with 'Aurelia and 'Delta in hot pursuit?; still, is it possible she's blossoming at exactly the right time? -Michael Hammersly
