CLOSER LOOK: Arkansas bred ships in to make his first local start after beating restricted runners in a 2 turn mile event at Oaklawn Park; he's shown some early interest going long and maybe he'll have a little extra to offer late in this one turn heat; he'll get a switch to Leparoux here and the price does figure to be better than it was in his last couple of starts.

Beaten chalk in his last 2 turns back while dropping out of the allowance ranks after 9 panels proved too much for him in his return from the freshening; return to dirt and the shorter trip should help a runner who owns the numbers to step with this field; Leparoux goes to the rail runner but he'll get the services of another solid journeyman pilot for this; picks up some weight but is one to consider.

Lightly raced sophomore tries older for the first time in his initial try at 8 panels; shipper goes for a barn that hits at a big clip with its stretchouts and this colt has the speed to be involved from the bell; his pedigree suggests the longer the better so don't think he'll have a problem with this one turn route; facing a field in which he could find himself leading the way early, he's a contender.

Exits his 2nd lowest Beyer ever so needs a serious wakeup call to shock these; lone win was gate-to-wire so has a chance in a paceless event to make the front then keep on going; the 2-back winner is the Kentucky Derby favorite and won next out in the SA Derby with a 107 Beyer; view as a major-pace presence. -Art Gropper

CLOSER LOOK: Pulpit about 10% with first-time turfers in a 453-runner sample; sire won the Fountain of Youth and Blue Grass, never turfed; dam won a Grade 3, excelled on grass, banked nearly $400K; this is her first to race; if you figure she just needed her last, you can make a case for a move forward; Castellano got a chance to figure her out; respect.

She pressed and faded in race she just may have needed; the 6/8 place horse last year took a N1X in Indy next out, was 2nd a head in a $69K stakes there in 2013 closer; back on the preferred surface now, she put in a couple of nice moves since the last effort; must pick it up after last attempt.

Keen to run last time, she may be better served settling and rolling like she did in the stateside debut; pretty snappy move last Saturday can be seen as a positive; pace could be hot enough for her with a couple of sprinters in the field going long; back to Graham; interesting.

Miss was professional in the return; place horse in the 2013 closer graduated next out and then won at this level with an 84 Beyer; maybe she just wanted to roll early all the time; she had to fight to lead last time but held off all comers; the concern: waters are much steeper this time.

Respect this interloper; she drew the rail on the tricky hill on 2/22 and that is a tough post unless a runner has clearing speed; she was inching toward the winner in last and now had the 2 races to build on; connections thought enough of her to try the stakes last year, she has proven she can get the trip, and should run huge. -Brian Mulligan

This grey may get a golden pace opportunity today as the lone speed; exits a very strong tightening race when pinned to the rail and now may find himself free and clear; ran into an excellent group last summer at Saratoga (including Arkansas Derby winner Danza) and faces no such powerhouses now; reverts to winning rider Rosario.

Lost significant ground in his first route test but did not finish far off the winner; his sole main track effort turned out to be a key affair and he can improve off the surface switch and turnback; remains a difficult runner to pinpoint at this time.

She's put together some sharp winning performances in her career and she enters this race off of a very nice win over the Gulfstream Park turf course; don't like to see Rosario aboard another in here, but she loses nothing with Castellano taking over; she can't be ignored in this spot.

There is a long layoff in play, and this is a very difficult assignment for her first start since November, but she has run well when fresh in the past, and she's been at her best over this turf course; prefer to lean toward others, but not going to be shocked if she gives a good account of herself.

At times she's hinted at having the ability to get the job done in a spot like this, but she just seems to be a cut or two below the top contenders in here; respect the fact that she's comfortable racing over this turf course, but feel that a lot of pieces are going to need to fall into place for her to have a chance at the top spot.

She usually shows up and runs her race and like the idea of her going synthetic-to-turf for her second start back from a layoff; Garcia is a go-to rider for this barn and they appear to have this mare ready to give a solid account of herself; winner form latest won next out at Kee on 4/18 going 1 1/16m in a G3 with a 96 Beyer.

She ran some big races in her final starts as a 3-year-old with Geroux aboard, and if her recent workouts are any indication, then she appears to be set for her first start as a 4-year-old; she owns the ability to adapt to any early pace scenario, and if the early pace is on the slow side, she might be the one leading them through the opening stages.

Prior to this year, she was the type of horse that would pop up with a solid run every once in a while, but it looks like her connections have really figured her out as she's reeled off three consecutive strong performances; she's not a stranger to outrunning her odds, so count her out of the mix at your own risk.

Not sure that she's quite up to the level of the top contenders in here, but this is a hard-trying filly who has won half of her 12 career starts, including four-for-nine over turf; this is a sharp outfit and she did run well in a G2 event over this turf course just two starts back, but going to side with others.

Maybe the outside post isn't ideal at this trip, but the Grade 1 winning mare sports some of the stronger turf form in this race, and she's handy enough to help herself manage a comfortable trip after breaking from out here; she's three-for-three over the CD turf and she shares the best last race Beyer Speed Figure in here with Effie Trinket; must consider. -Brian Pochman

CLOSER LOOK: Over one year winless; her Beyer speed figures need a significant boost to land a share with these; 1-for-11 fast-dirt record is not very appealing showing her best Beyer on a wet track and exits an improved try but on an all-weather oval; the 3-back winner and runner-up finisher Beyered 98-96 in next-out OP-Grade 2 and SA-80K-stakes wins.

Right style to win this; the first two-7F CD dirt winners at the current meet raced 5th at the 1st call as she did in latest win; went 3-for-6 with a Grade 1 win since her solid runner-up finish on CD dirt one year ago defeating the show finisher who Beyered 87 in a next-out CD-108K stakes win; obviously her 1-for-7 dirt record suggests she may be better on synthetic despite the field-best Beyer on dirt in the Breeders' Cup 3-back which was her only defeat since October; looms a logical contender for win honors.

Projects to be a pace presence off the turf fade producing her lowest Beyer since November; ambitious placement here; her career-best Beyer was at 1.5F shorter than this; last 3 wins were stalking trips but almost can't help being a pace presence stretching out; know her early but unsure about late.

This is her 1st start outside of California and has Scherzinger to beat losing to that one the last time sent today's 7F distance; her 2-back victory was avenged in latest by the runner-up finisher - now the absence; career-best Beyer was at longer than this so assuming she wants more distance.

Has never been better taking an OP stakes in her 1st-ever wet-track start; sharp-fast form as well and is 2-for-2 on CD dirt both at today's distance; 4-for-7 since switching to the Asmussen barn and while she will need to up her game to a brand new level to win it all she fits well.

2013 Kentucky Oaks pacesetter won despite trouble when last seen but nearly a 1-year absence since exiting a best-last-race Beyer when defeating the runner-up finisher who posted a 102 speed figure in a next-out BEL-G1 win; working very well for a capable-long-layoff trainer and 7F seems like a good distance off the 1-turn Mile score especially without a lot of projected pace she figures to be a force from bell to finish; scary if ready; the one to beat. -Art Gropper

CLOSER LOOK: Moves back to the lawn after failing to threaten the top 2 finishers at Calder while making his first start since late last summer; G3 SW over the local main track did break his maiden first out on the lawn and he has a right to move forward with his last behind him; he'll get a strong journeyman pilot for this, but his numbers suggest he'll need to improve quite a bit to step with some of these.

Import makes his first start since the fall when in against G1 foes overseas and coming up short late; colt ran off 3 straight on the green to begin his career and he will get Lasix and a sharp journeyman pilot for his first stateside start; Keeneland drill earlier in the week gives the indication they may ask him for some early interest in this comebacker; expecting he'll prove a threat today.

Just missed taking a stake in his first start against winners after breaking his maiden at today's trip out West; lightly raced gelding has been working regularly in the interim and should appreciate the slight stretch back out here; one to consider.

Didn't have much to say late when beaten chalk sprinting on the inner track at Aqueduct last out and was given a little extra time off the effort; colt did break his maiden second time out on the lawn so the surface switch shouldn't bother him but he's been sprinting and don't know that this 2 turn trip is going to help move him forward; nice to see Rosario take interest, but have to pass on him today.

Showed up with nothing in the off the turf stake at Keeneland and finished well behind some of these in that one; he's back to his preferred footing here and the interim drill in the local mud suggests it isn't as if he's gone off form, but rather he just didn't take to the synthetic surface; giving him the nod to take a big step forward, getting back on track and beating these home.

Ran ok in the G1 Blue Grass last time and finished within 3 lengths of the winner in Turfway's G3 Spiral 2 back but maybe its the lawn he really wants as he was pretty good over in this winter at Gulfstream; he did get a solid clip in front of him in that lone surface try and the barn is winless with its recent runners moving from synthetic to the lawn; maybe for a minor share.

Gets back on his preferred footing after failing to offer enough from a wide spot in the off the turf Transylvania at Keeneland; his speed usually has him involved from the bell and though he faltered late in his lone 9 panel trip, don't think the distance will pose him any problem today; thinking he proves to be the one they'll have to beat.

Earned a career best number when runner up in the Transylvania while tackling winners for the initial time off a powerful Gulfstream maiden score; surface switch should help and the barn's top pilot does stay put; post draw is an obvious concern, but he earned that 9 panel maiden score while breaking from an outside slot and found his way to the fence; likely to take money off the big number he earned on synthetic footing but he must be considered.

He's another who earned his best number in an off the turfer last time and was just a neck off the guy drawn to his inside here in that one; he took advantage of a solid clip in front of him to break his maiden at a shorter trip at Gulfstream and now he'll move from inside draws to the extreme outside slot; lightly raced colt does have a right to keep getting better but may not offer a lot of value from here. -Steve Grabowski

CLOSER LOOK: The class is there off the Grade 1 win last summer; connections took a shot BC Day, but it was the wrong surface; pinballed at the break in last and he never recovered; love the spacing of the return drills but things need to break just right since runner has limited speed; the hotter the pace the better for him.

Tough beat in the G2 last year when whipped by the repeater; if you figure he needed last then you can build a case for a move forward; note he won the Swale last year in the second off the layoff win; would have liked to have seen a local drill.

Maybe he hated the rail in the last pair; toss the 2013 closer as he bobbled and lost best chance; Mena has won with this runner, and key off the 16-1 BC Sprint; look for rider to take a little hold, try to save ground, attempt to find a seam, and move to reel them all in.

Nice effort in California 2 back but must find a way to turn the tables on that runner among others; the local win came vs. much softer and he has never won a Graded race in his career; he trained fast before the Carter but it didn't transfer; backers can hang their hat on the best of 84 spin here last Saturday.

CLOSER LOOK: Two-time reigning Horse of the Year is going after his second victory in this event, and after a sharp winning performance after a layoff in the Makers 46 Mile, he seems very likely to come right back with an even sharper try; until he starts showing signs of slowing down, it's just tough to go against him.

Four of his six starts over turf have been very nice performances, and if anyone in this race is going to lead at every point of call, this seems like the one to do it; perhaps he's worth including in multiple race wagers as back up in the event that Wise Dan isn't at his best.

Tough veteran has shown the ability to pack a strong stretch punch on his best day and he's had a good deal of success while winning five of 11 starts over this turf course; on the negative side, the early pace in here might not heat up very much, and one of the horses he'll have to pass is Wise Dan.

Prior to his latest outing, he did little wrong through his first nine starts over turf, even if he might have recorded a few too many runner-up finishes, and not going to be too hard on him for the sub par performance in his latest outing going 1 1/2m; going to look for this Ramsey/Maker/Leparoux production to bounce right back with a sharp start.

Simply feel that his best race isn't strong enough to get him into the mix against these, and not only have his starts in graded stakes races before today been below par, but this is the toughest assignment of his career.

It looked like he might have lost his best step at the end of 2013 and in his first start of 2014, but he clearly put together one of his sharper performances in his most recent outing, and that was only his second start for the Pletcher barn; he's one of two in here with more than $1 million in career earnings.

He's another one of these horses that has good days but lacks consistency and feel that it's fair to wonder if he can come right back with the same level of performance that he showed up with at Fair Grounds in his latest start; even if he does bring his 'A' game to the table, a minor award is probably the ceiling.

He has to be considered an interesting option in here based on what he showed us in his first start in America while making his final start as a 3-year-old; obviously this is a difficult spot for his first start as a 4-year-old, but not going to be surprised if this Juddmonte-homebred has a strong season. -Brian Pochman

Claimed from his debut now starts in the Kentucky Derby; he is 1-of-3 trainer by Maker but have not seen a dirt start since January and exits a career-low Beyer speed figure; figures to sit right behind stablemate Vicars In Trouble from the gate saving ground then hopes to find a way through; off latest would be a shocker.

Broke slowly in the Wood Memorial after a tough beat in the Gotham; clearly the added distance here is a big issue and he must break sharply for best hope; adding blinkers for the Kentucky Derby so projects as a pace presence for part.

21-pence Beyer improvement for his Arkansas Derby score in his 1st start beyond 7f where he sat a ground-saving trip behind a hot pace then exploded home like he was an even-money shot not nearly 41-1 odds; according to DRF clockers at CD he has made a great appearance at CD.

Won a key race defeating the show and 4th-place finishers from last; they Beyered 87-85 in next-out OP-100K stakes and SRP-aw. wins; trainer Baffert has stated he's a speed horse and with his other horse Hoppertunity breaking midpack this one is meant to be forwardly placed; worked in company in CD and getting the classic distance after pressing the pace is a major issue.

Is another who did not do much on that speed-favoring GP strip in the Fountain of Youth then went on to win a G3 and earned a spot here by chasing Dance With Fate on synthetic; style suggests the added distance will help the cause but has a lot to prove on dirt.

Bumped with California Chrome out of the gate in the SA Derby then was within contention at the quarter pole but was run off his feet by the likely-Derby betting choice; he has worked extremely well at CD for this seeking the rematch; perhaps a cleaner start will help him turn the tables; others appeal more.

0-for-3 over the track is the concern as he needed Ellis and a wet track to post wins; he reunites with rider Borel who's won 3 Kentucky Derbys and is 2-for-5 piloting this one; was no match for the surprising Danza in latest; have him ranked a notch below the top contenders.

The way he rallied in the middle of the track for his Wood Memorial victory would think breaking widest may not hurt his chances any; he's been very good in New York but in races elsewhere he was a non factor; the 104 Beyer came out of nowhere but makes him a major player if can repeat that effort; the 2-back winner made it 3-for-3 in the Florida Derby (99 Beyer).

CLOSER LOOK: After winning via disqualification in his debut race here last June, he aimed too high in the G3 Bashford Manor and lost all chance at the break; since then, he has progressed into a steady performer at this level and was given a well-deserved rest after winning a demanding pace battle; playable if inside path has proven the place to be.

Middle moved to command in the latest run at Oaklawn only to falter late; that was his only route attempt and he should be much more comfortable with the return to this common distance; recent half-mile breeze, however, left much to be desired; mixed signals for this grey.

This is his first claiming race since graduating long ago; last sprint try was an excellent effort when unfortunately jammed up between rivals for a good part of the running; perfect intervals to the work tab suggests he has been pointed for this event for quite some time and he looks like a logical candidate.

On the shelf since failing to fire in his last run; the colt has the most experience over this course, a big plus, and has appeared in more than one graded stakes in his career; reverts to winning pilot Bridgmohan but the question centers on whether six furlongs is the proper distance considering the layoff.

Veteran runner raced evenly last time out at Keeneland but the return to this oval should help his cause immensely; 15-time winner can handle all sorts of track conditions and has legitimate money chances here regardless of how the pace unfolds; consider.

Defeated n2l runners with authority in his 2013 finale but he may have problems establishing a clear, early lead against this line-up; faces several older and far more experienced heavy-hitters and cannot be given the top vote regardless of soil condition.

Likes to stalk and this outside slot can suit his style just fine; can obtain ideal early attack position especially since a very rapid early pace does not seem in the cards; capable of turning the tables on Platitude who defeated him March and receives a significant weight shift in his favor today from that rival. -Jim Kachulis

CLOSER LOOK: Valid excuse in the debut when sprinting, colt has the speed to take advantage of the inside; Grade 1 winning dam banked nearly $700K; several successful routers in the family, 2 banked 6 figures including G3 winner and near $300K earner Happy Hunting; champagne corks could be popping after the nightcap.

Considering he hooked the clear winner, the last race was not all that bad; G2 placed 2 for 7 dam earned about $175K; this is her first to race; would expect him to be put into the race early and try to steal it.

It's been all about 4s so far; he lost all chance when forced to steady in last; 2/22 place horse graduated next out in a MSW with an 84 Beyer; there is a proven router in the tree and both siblings banked 6 figures; look for him late if at all.

Far from disgraced when hooking Tapiture on the surface; if that runner rolls in the Derby, this colt's stock is beefed up; place horse in last graduated next out by over 7 with an 89 Beyer and the winner of last repeated in an N2L allowance at OP; he has some work to do to match top kin and full sister Sky Dreamer, who won routing and earned over $175K; backers have to hope they go bonkers early and the race falls apart.
